

FACT SHEET

- EXPERIENCE: The AAA Four-Diamond rated Envoy Hotel is Autograph Collection Hotels’ first Boston property and a beacon in the city’s Seaport. With its fusion of bold originality and hospitality, this is a welcoming hotel for the emerging Innovation District to call its own. Hailing visitors and locals who crave an authentic connection to the pulse of Boston, The Envoy Hotel offers an experience embodying that of its trailblazing neighborhood: creative, forward-thinking and thoughtful. Among its singular amenities is Lookout Rooftop and Bar: a peerless venue for spectacular waterfront and city views, local beers and seasonal cocktails.
- LOCATION: Imagined as the cornerstone of a pioneering neighborhood while keeping Boston proper in easy reach, The Envoy Hotel is firmly positioned in the center of it all. It’s located steps from Seaport landmarks including the Institute of Contemporary Art, Moakley Courthouse and Fish Pier; among the many trailblazing businesses headquartered in the Innovation District and just across the Evelyn Moakley Bridge into the heart of the city’s Financial District. Also within reach are major travel centers—including Logan International Airport, less than a 10 minute drive, and Amtrak’s South Station, a short walk over the Congress Street Bridge.
- DESIGN: Thoughtfully designed by Group One Partners, Inc., The Envoy Hotel features handcrafted, artisan-style décor created specifically for the hotel; reclaimed wood throughout and sleek, modern finishes. Guests are greeted with bronze “This Way Forward” messaging etched into the street, then welcomed by a bright, communal lobby lit by a dramatically oversized chandelier made from reclaimed materials including rope and coiled phone cords. The lobby, with plush seating and collaborative work areas (including a retrofitted billiards table that incorporates six interactive screens), is a design and innovation hub in its own right. A sculptural, fluid check-in desk is backed by a wall of heat-sensing bulbs that mirrors guests’ movements. The elevator ride is heightened by a mural depicting an ocean horizon; additional custom art pieces enliven the hotel’s hallways and common areas. Guest rooms are designed in soothing, textural neutrals with pops of The Envoy’s signature shade of yellow.
- The Envoy’s curated art collection winks at its Innovation District surroundings, often repurposing once-revolutionary technology. In the lobby, for example, is a portrait of a sunglasses-clad woman, made from VHS tapes and other materials. Another mixed-media piece reveals a rendering of the Boston skyline inside a lightbulb and overlaid on a panel of books.

- ACCOMMODATIONS: The Envoy Hotel has 136 contemporary guest rooms, including two luxury suites and 19 two-queen doubles, all featuring:
- Floor-to-ceiling, triple-paned windows framing unparalleled views of the city skyline or waterfront
 - Large-scale antique map of Boston overlaid on a sliding glass door separating the bedroom from the bathroom
 - All furniture was created specifically for the hotel, including TV stands made from bicycle frames and sleek white desks wrapped with a retro-inspired leather belt
 - Pillow-top Serta Perfect Sleeper beds
 - Spacious bathrooms featuring Fresh products

LOOKOUT

ROOFTOP AND BAR: Offering incredible views of the Boston skyline and waterfront, Lookout Rooftop and Bar features lounge seating for 103 guests. May through October, the bar serves fresh-ingredient-driven cocktails and local beers, including a seasonal house brew created especially for the property by Harpoon Brewery and a signature Lookout Punch with rum from Privateer, a local distiller. With 4,000 square feet of some of the city’s most prime real estate, Lookout Rooftop and Bar is open to both hotel guests and locals.

TECHNOLOGY:

Like its Innovation District neighbors, The Envoy Hotel stays at the forefront of technology with amenities including:

- A vintage billiards table in the lobby that’s been reimaged into an interactive touchscreen workstation with six separate screens that can be used individually or together
- EcoSmart televisions with Dynamic Power Saving technology
- In-room TVs double as digital concierge and are equipped with Enseio technology for instant access to the Internet and programming from Netflix, Hulu and more
- Personal-technology charging stations and mini shelves built into the bedside

WELLNESS:

The Envoy Hotel’s Wellness Concierge Program assists guests in finding the area’s unique and top-tier fitness spanning four categories: general fitness, holistic wellness, special interest and massage. Guests can contact the concierge for a consultation that keeps personal goals, interests and schedule while in Boston in mind in order to ensure a truly tailored experience for every guest.

LOCAL:

The Envoy's pride in and connection to its Boston home includes strong ties to area businesses. Local partnerships include:

- Fresh: Boston-founded company dedicated to natural ingredients provides bath products in all guest rooms
- Organic Living Superfoods: Walpole, MA company's snacks and beverages are available for purchase in guest room minibars
- Bully Boy Distillery: Local distillers' spirits are served at Lookout Rooftop and Bar and Outlook Kitchen and Bar
- Commissioned artwork inspired by Boston, including a bold piece by Donald Martiny called Moswetuset, named for the Native American Massachusetts tribe's word for the Boston Harbor area; and Horizon Reflection, a mixed-media piece designed by Maryanna McDonald to simulate the view of Boston Harbor from The Envoy's rooftop
